

At the present time I feel that I have the right to turn off what I don't want to watch or listen too. I have the right to turn off the tv or radio and go watch the grass grow. When it becomes time that someone has the right to tell me what I can listen to and what I watch then we are in Big Brother. I have XM radio and although I don't use the weather or news channels much it is still an option that should be available to me if I so choose. If something better comes down the pike then what right does someone have to tell me that it shouldn't be available. Please don't keep removing what little we have to enjoy at this time in history.
